SOON TO SAY FAREWELL

Sons of St. George Will Banquet and Go Home

And This Morning, After a Pleasant Reception at the Sutton Residence. Work of the Grand Lodge Last Night and Today—Final Session Now Being Held—A New Ritual For the Sons. Beautiful Souvenirs.

The National council, Daughters of America, have finished their work and the delegates have returned to their homes satisfied with the transactions of two short but pleasantly spent days. The Sons of St. George are still meeting in grand lodge session, but the close of this afternoon's meeting will witness the windup of business. Like their sister lodge the members have naught to say but praise for the Crocker City and all who dwell therein. The days spent here will long be remembered by the visitors to East Liverpool as the most pleasant in their career, and if ever harm is said of the city or its interests it will not come from the lips of her present guests.

Little business remained for the Daughters of America when they convened yesterday afternoon in the News Review building, but it was of a rather tedious sort and not until evening did the order dispose of it. The report of the committee on a new ritual was rejected. The council failed to see where the change would be beneficial, and accordingly turned the idea down. A new committee consisting of Miss Julia Tipton, Dennison, J. W. Finley, Chester, and M. B. Seiler, Dayton, was appointed to compile a ritual from the draughts presented and report at once to the board of officers after the session was at an end. Mr. Seiler was compelled to return home and H. A. Malott, of Hamilton, was appointed in his place.

The national officers elect were then installed by Past National Councilor, C. W. Morris, of Wellsville.

Resolutions were adopted fixing the bond of the national treasurer and secretary at $2,000 each. Heretofore there has been practically no bond, and it was deemed rather unbusinesslike to continue in such shape.

A gold jewel was ordered for Past National Councilor Gerbig, of Scranton and four or five others for associate national councilors.

Speeches were made by National Councilor M. B. Seiler, Dayton; National Vice Councilor, L. O. Meyles, Baltimore, and Past State Councilor, Carrie Croghan, of Scioto. A number of bills were acted upon and the meeting was then brought to a close.

Nearly all the delegates left for their homes last night, but several remained as did the ritual committee whose work compelled their presence here. The remaining delegates were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Sutton, Third street, spending an enjoyable evening.

The national council will meet in Brooklyn on the third Tuesday in August and the state council in Massillon on the first Tuesday in the same month.

H. A. Malott, of the American Sentinel, Hamilton, who was honored by election to the position of state councilor, is an accommodating gentleman to whom the News Review returns thanks. The press committee undoubtedly did all in their power to aid the papers, and their success is shown by the reports which we have been enabled to give.

State Councilor Malott has not yet decided who he will appoint to the office of deputy organizer, but said last night that if he decided to have only one deputy for several towns near each other he would probably choose C. W. Morris, of Wellsville, for this district. Mr. Malott left on the morning train for Pittsburg and starts from there to his home in Hamilton.

The national convention struck the local lodge at the wrong time, and they were not prepared for the entertainment they had intended giving. But they hope to do better next time.

The local council had an honor probably never before conferred on any subordinate lodge, that of entertaining the state and national councils at the same time, and also initiating a candidate in the presence of every national and state officer of the order.

A great many members of the orders have been loud in their praise of the News Review for the excellent reports of the proceedings. Many copies of the paper have been sent to interested ones at home, with the assurance that accurate accounts of the proceedings could be found in them.

ALMOST DONE.

Sons of St. George Holding Their Final Session.

The Grand Lodge, Sons of St. George, are holding their final business session this afternoon, and will wind up their stay in East Liverpool with a grand banquet in Bradshaw hall tonight.

At yesterday's afternoon session numerous amendments were offered to the supreme constitution. Resolutions were also adopted setting apart one day in each year for a memorial day. Another important action was the placing of an organizer in the state. Heretofore under no definite organization or movement lodges have sprung up until there are now 34 in the state, and by the new move it is expected that the number of lodges will double during the ensuing year. The grand lodge desires it said that the daily papers were in error as regards the statement that the first time in the history of the order it has gone backward. The reporters secured this from the sheet containing the general report, but it was a mistake upon the part of one of the members, and had not been finally copied by the secretary.

Past President John E. Washer, of Akron, was presented with a past president's jewel of office in appreciation of his services during the past year as worthy grand president. Little other business of importance came before the grand lodge yesterday afternoon, and an adjournment was had at the usual hour until 9 o'clock this morning.

Almost the entire morning session was taken up by placing on the floor a new amplified ritual which presents many meritorious features and great attractions to the entire membership. It is the opinion of the members of the order, who are also connected with other secret societies, that the ritual excels in all respects that of any order they know of.

Never lacking in novel ideas as well as hospitality the members of Josiah Wedgewood lodge had a pleasant surprise for their guests at the close of this morning's session. It was in the shape of a presentation of souvenirs to each member of the grand lodge. The mementoes were splendid representations of East Liverpool's great industry as well as tokens of esteem. They were comports of beautiful design decorated with a dragon on each of the two handles, the motto of the order above the figure of a horseman and the inscription of Josiah Wedgewood lodge beneath. The souvenirs were made by members of the order employed at the Mountford pottery, and were fit specimens of the product as manufactured in this city. Upon motion the grand lodge through their worthy grand secretary, E. V. Shavler, responded and tendered in touching terms a vote of thanks not only for the souvenirs but for the many other kindnesses shown state officers and delegates during the visit here.

An omission from last night's paper was that of the name of Morris Hessey who accompanied all of the singers on the organ during Tuesday night's entertainment. This feature of the occasion was an admirable and praiseworthy one, much enjoyed by those present.

It is said that the Jabawah decree was inflicted upon several victims last night or rather about 1 o'clock this morning, although the unfortunates are reticent when approached by newspaper men today.

A Case For the Humane Society

Had an officer of the Humane society been on Broadway this morning he would, doubtless, have had a victim or two in the legal net in short order. Urged by a man with a big whip two horses, drawing a wagon heavily laden with clay, were attempting to make the hill. To go straight was an utter impossibility, but the driver crossed and re-crossed the street finally being successful. One horse stumbled and fell during the ordeal, and even under the lash the faithful animals tugged and strained, doing their best to obey the mandate of the long whip. The load was far too heavy for the horses.

Will Picnic.

The Columbian club are arranging for a picnic to be held a week from tomorrow evening at Rock Spring. A number of invitations will be issued outside the club.

Laid Up.

James Miller, who has been working for L. J. McGhie, is off duty owing to illness. He has been ailing for a week.

IT WILL BE A BIG DAY

Trades Council Arrange For Labor Day.

THERE WILL BE A GREAT PARADE

Chas Stewart Appointed Marshal—Manufacturing Pottery and Business Men Invited to Take Part—Many Committees Appointed to Finish the Arrangements.

If enthusiasm and hard work can accomplish anything the celebration of Labor Day will be an event in the history of East Liverpool.

Trades council and the advisory board met in joint session in the Whittenberger building last evening, and went to work with a will, everyone present seeming to realize that while there were many to carry out the tasks imposed by the assembly the time was short and the duty arduous. The first business was the decision that there would be a parade. This move had been opposed by some, but the committee recommended, and the meeting declared that for the complete enjoyment and success of the day it was absolutely necessary that there be a parade. Chas Stewart was appointed chief marshal, and in accepting the office he appointed President Hughes, Frank McCullough and William Ruhe as his aides. Nine o'clock was the hour set for the parade to move, and Marshal Stewart said that it would start at that time if he was the only man present. It was expected that there will be a large number of men in line. The secretary was instructed to act in conjunction with Secretary Neville and invite the manufacturing pottery and business men to take part in the celebration. It is hoped that the turnout will be large and the parade one of the greatest, if not the greatest ever seen in the city. U. G. King and Walter Locke were appointed a committee to secure badges for every union in town. These will be made especially for marching, and will add largely to the appearance of the procession. The secretary of each union will report to them the desired number. George Smith, Chas Stewart, John Haney, S. McGavran and William Ruhe were selected to look after the musical features, and the ability of the members is ample proof that there will be harmony in abundance. The committee to look after the tickets are William Cope, John Grafton and Frank McCullough. Criss McConnell will be the dancing master at the grove where the picnic will be held, and has the power to appoint his own aides. An advertising committee made up of John Haney, A. L. Hughes, James Grafton, S. Neville, A. L. Seckerson, Walter Locke and C. Weitzel will see that the fame of the coming celebration will be spread through the land. The amusement committee composed of Messrs. Stewart and Hughes will prepare a program of sports for the day, and it is expected that many interesting contests will be the result. Frank Allison was appointed to preserve the peace should it become necessary, and he will have a number of good men take the required oath in order to assist him.

Another feature of the day will be the presentation of a handsome silk flag to the local union having the largest proportion of its members in line. The colors are given by Alvin H. Bulger, and already the different enthusiasts are urging all to be in the parade. The various committees will get to work without delay, and it is expected that all can be ready to report at the next general meeting which will be held on Wednesday evening. The enthusiasm shown last night promises great things not only for the parade, but also for the picnic which will take up the greater part of the day. Every one present was anxious to do what he could to make it a success, and there is little doubt that the observance of the day here will meet every expectation.

Keeping an Eye on Storms.

Postmaster Simms has received a letter from U. S. Courier, weather observer at Cleveland, informing him that as East Liverpool was by far the most important city in the county it had been decided to send to this place notification of all great storms or other atmospheric disturbances. Mr. Simms replied that he would be glad to co-operate in the movement, and in the future you can expect to see advance notices of rain, snow or cyclones at the postoffice.

The Right Construction.

"A local paper says that it is the only paper in Liverpool recognized outside of the city," remarked a business man last night. "Now, don't you know that the assertion strikes me as being anything but a compliment for the sheet, and it was a mistake to utter it, for when a newspaper becomes so disreputable at home as to be compelled to go out of town for recognition it should pull up stakes and seek the community where they like it."

TO A HIGHER COURT.

Connors-Golding Damage Case Was Appealed.

NEW LISBON, Aug. 22.—The damage case of Timothy Connors against the Golding & Sons Company, of East Liverpool, has been taken to the circuit court, the defendants filing their petition in error this morning. The grounds set forth by them are that the verdict given by the jury was excessive and against the weight of the evidence. They also charge error against the court in having rejected evidence offered by them, and in his charge to the jury. Connors, they claim, violated the law while the case was on trial by talking of the case to a juror. They also claim that new and important testimony has recently been discovered by them which will materially change the aspect of the case. This action, it will be remembered, was filed last October by Connors, asking $10,000 damages for having been seriously injured, the previous June in their flint mill through the carelessness of one of their employees in starting the machinery while he was in a dangerous position. Last March on the hearing of the case a verdict was given him for $3,000. A motion for a new trial filed immediately by the defendants was overruled.

Expert Sant's report will be submitted this week to the counsel for the bondsmen of Treasurer Martin, after which it will be submitted to the bondsmen themselves for further action next week. Naturally there is a great deal of speculation as to what it will be, but here in the county seat there are many who believe that the original explanation of bad book-keeping will clear it all. The rabid opponents of the treasurer and the expert are waiting for the report, but they seem to have received a quiet hint, and are not as anxious as they were a few weeks ago.

The next of kin of the late Malvina Brookes, of Wellsville township, having declined to take administration on her estate, the court granted unto Elmer S. Kelly letters of administration with $500 bond. There will be no appraisement. In the estate of the late Solomon Spaitte, of Unity township, in the case of J. C. Spaitte administrator versus Albert L. Spaitte and others, an order of public sale was issued for the property. The hearing of application to admit to probate the last will of Phebe Cope, late of Elkrum township, which was set for today was continued.

The licenses issued from the probate court today were for the marriage of the following parties:

William Holdman and Margaret Smith McLean, William Hulton and Maggie Gorby, John Wheatly and Harriet I. Bloor.

Judge and Mrs. P. C. Young arrive in the city today.

ELECTED A JANITOR.

The School Board Meets and Transacts Business.

There was a meeting of the board of education last night and considerable business transacted.

All the members were present, except Colonel Taylor who was out of town. Thomas Todd was elected janitor to fill the place of John Sterling, and Professor Sanor was requested to invite the county teachers' association to hold their next institute, next year, in this city. This year they meet in the northern part of the county. A few bills were paid amounting in all to $150. The recommendation that the teachers be invited here is a step in the right direction, and will serve to show that this city is a part of the county, and as such is entitled to recognition.

For the Teachers.

The county teachers' institute will be held at Columbiana next week. All teachers who are in the city are requested to meet at the Sixth street school tomorrow at 3 o'clock to arrange to attend.

Frohman's Charity Ball.

H. A. Oberstella, manager of the Charity Ball company was in the city yesterday making arrangements for the appearance of the troupe at the Grand next month.

A Lucky Man.

It is whispered about that a well known young man won enough at the Wellsville races yesterday to pay for his suit of fall clothes.

KILLED IN A COAL MINE

John Cain Meets Death This Morning.

HIS SON CALLED FOR HIM

And When No Answer Came He Knew His Father Was Dead—Deceased Was Well Known and Leaves a Wife and Seven Children.

John Cain was instantly killed by the caving of a coal mine on the Lisbon road this morning.

Such was the word hurriedly brought to the patrol station this morning, and in a short time Officer Meador was spinning along the road bound for the place. The wagon dashed through town to the little coal bank on the New Lisbon road where a horrified crowd of the neighbors of John Cain were taking his lifeless body from under a great stone, a part of the roof of the hole dignified as a coal bank. Cain, who was until last Saturday employed on the construction of the Fourth street school building, had gone into the bank this morning to get coal. The place is owned by Phillip McClain, and has been used by the people of West End without charge. This morning Cain went with his son Charles to the bank, and ordered the boy to remain on the outside as it was dangerous under the roof. The vein is low, and the man was compelled to crawl in the hole. There he dug a quantity of coal which was carried to the home not far away by the boy. After he had made a few trips and he was on his way back he heard a crash, and running to the mouth of the mine called for his father. No answer being returned he called again. A third time did the son shout his father's name, than realizing that something had happened he ran down the hill and gave the alarm. In a few minutes a number of men had responded, and coming to the mine found that a great stone had fallen upon Cain, and nothing but his feet could be seen. By this time a crowd gathered, and in a few minutes some one had brought a jack. This was placed under a corner of the rock, but the body was not released until near 11 o'clock. Then it was found that the stone had fallen so as to crush the body, but left the face with only a few scratches. Death had evidently come with the fall or a very few moments afterward. The remains were moved to the late residence of deceased nearby.

Deceased was 53 years old, and has lived in the city 12 years. He was employed at Burford's as engineer, but had been without work for some time until he secured work on the school house. A wife and seven children survive him the sons being Henry, John, Charles, Lewis and Milo. A daughter, Miss Emma, resides at home, and the other is Mrs. William Rex. The mine was known as a dangerous place to many persons in West End.

MARRIED AT NOON.

John Vodrey and Miss Katherine Laughlin Made One.

Rev. J. C. Taggart at noon today said the impressive words which bound together the hearts and fortunes of Mr. John W. Vodrey and Miss Katherine Laughlin.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents on Thompson avenue and was witnessed by only the immediate relatives and closest friends of the interested parties. After a sumptuous wedding feast the newly married pair were driven to the station where they took the afternoon train for the seashore and eastern cities. Mr. and Mrs. Vodrey have the best wishes and hearty congratulations of very many friends as they are among the most popular young society people in the city. They enter life with bright prospects for a happy future, and the News Review but echoes the sentiment of the city when it wishes them all the happiness they can enjoy.

Liverpool Was There.

The Wellsville races attracted a large crowd of Liverpool people yesterday who were given some good sport for their trip. The track was fast, there was no trouble, and the day was as pleasant as could be desired. The greater part of the crowd was made up of Liverpool admirers of horse flesh, and they were enthusiastic enough to cheer the good features. The bookmakers did not get rich as a result of the day's racing. A large number of persons went down this afternoon, and excellent sport is expected.

When the newspapers have nothing to talk about these days they hint at a veto.

GROVER CLEVELAND is in the hands of the cartoonist these days with a vengeance.

THE income tax is a stench in the nostrils of such millionaire Democrats as Whitney, Pulitzer, and a host of others.

THE farmers of Columbiana need not shear their sheep next year, the wool will not be worth the labor of taking it from their skinning backs to the Democratic market.

WHEN Tom Reed and a few more Republican heavy weights get to work in Papa Wilson's Democratic district the people will soon learn what a congressional error they have in Washington.

SECRETARY CARLISLE, a Democratic member of a Democratic administration, has written to Senator Hill urging him to let his bill against the importation of anarchists go by the board. He thinks that our present immigration laws are all right. That sounds as though Carlisle doted on anarchy.

THE ease with which Senator Smith secured a reduction in the duty on crockery prompts the suspicion that there was a general farming out of industries in the senate, a lower or higher rate of duty to be used by the different members to benefit their personal interests. And this is the action of men elected by the people of a republic to transact public business.

THE people of Colorado are so disgusted with Bloody Bridges Waite and his crowd of Populists that they are manifesting no interest whatever in national politics, devoting themselves to no other effort than that of defeating the men who have made the name of their state a byword and a reproach. It can truthfully be prophesied that there will be no pop-gun governor in Colorado next year.

THE PEOPLE WILL PAY.

The New York Tribune touches a tender spot in the Democratic heart, and pours forth barrels of truth when it says:

"The advanced economists on the Democratic side, who console themselves with the reflection that the Gorman bill is at least a step in the direction of English free trade, overlook an essential point. Cobden's victory was won when the corn laws were abolished and imported food was released from taxation. The Gorman bill, still unsigned, marks a very different departure from current policy. Raw sugar is the largest article of imported food in the United States, and it is now practically free under reciprocity conditions. Under the Gorman bill it will be heavily taxed, and in such a way that the monopolists will be enriched at the expense of consumers. The people will pay tribute twice, to the treasury and to the trust. This is something essentially different from the abolition of the corn laws."

Time works wonders, and it may even go so far as to prove within the next two years by the hard lash of experience that the Democrats do not want their tariff reform.

PLETHORIC TREASURY

The Cash Balance Swelled to Nearly $121,000,000.

GOLD RESERVE ABOUT $54,000,000.

Receipts From Internal Revenue Sources Abnormally Large—This Increase Only Temporary and Will Cause Embarrassment in the Future.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Receipts from internal revenue sources continue to be abnormally large, with the prospects of continuing so until the new tariff bill goes into effect. During the last seven working days from Aug. 15 the receipts have reached the unprecedented sum of $11,000,122, and it is confidently expected that by next Saturday night, at midnight, when the new act will become operative, the aggregate receipts for the preceding 10 days will have reached $15,000,000. These large receipts under the circumstances are depreciable by the treasury officials, who like the situation to that of the poor man paying 10 per cent per month for money upon which they live.

The reason for this is that the aid that comes to the treasury in this way is only temporary at best, and will only add to the embarrassment later on, for, on every gallon of whiskey now being withdrawn, the government, sooner or later, is bound to lose 20 cents. As soon as the tariff bill goes into operation the receipts from this source are expected to drop down to a merely nominal amount and so continue some months until the great supply now being laid in is exhausted.

These abnormally large receipts have swelled the cash balance in the treasury to nearly $121,000,000. At the same time the gold reserve is slowly increasing until it has now reached about $54,000,000. This increase is due almost entirely to the western demand for small notes with which to harvest the crops.

Under the terms of the special circular issued by the United States treasury in June last, small notes are exchanged only for gold, and very substantial sums are now being received daily from this source. The demand for small notes has not yet set in from the south, but the movement of cotton now beginning is expected to bring in considerable sums of gold, so that for the present, at least, the embarrassments which have threatened the treasury have passed by.

The Appeal Was Futile.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Before telegraphing for absences the Democratic leaders in the senate made an especial appeal to the Republicans to permit the bill to correct the error with reference to alcohol in the arts to go through without objection in the absence of a quorum. It appears, however, that when Senator Chandler went away he left behind him a request that the bill should not be taken up in his absence and the Republican senators are guarding this request. The Democratic senators now threaten to retaliate by taking up the supplemental tariff bills and trying to pass them in case they succeed in getting a quorum.

Serious Charges Against Taylor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The civil service commission has been investigating for some time back charges that J. H. Taylor, the recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, had been soliciting campaign funds from the government employees contrary to the provisions of the civil service laws and will, within the next few days, submit a report to the president on the matter, which report, it is said, will find that Taylor has been connected with solicitation of campaign contributions and will recommend Taylor's removal from office.

New Phase of the Sealing Matter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The state department has initiated the next phase of the sealing question by addressing a note to all maritime powers inviting them to adhere to the agreement reached by the United States and Great Britain relative to the protection of seal fisheries. This was made necessary by the award of the Paris arbitration conference, which found that the United States had no exclusive jurisdiction over the seal waters, and that these could be protected only by mutual agreement.

They Speak Through The Record.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The Congressional Record contains 85 pages of Senator Quay's speech, which has been inserted under the "leave to print" privilege granted several weeks ago. Representative Bronson (Rep., Pa.) takes advantage of the leave to print granted by the house when the tariff bill was passed to insert a speech loaded with campaign poetry. There are 25 selections of various kinds, some being dialect verses, others straight doggerel.

President's Interests Not Obtainable.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Anefort was made to oblige some information as to what course the president is likely to pursue with reference to the tariff bill, as he has returned from Gray Gables, but not the least intimation thereof could be obtained either at the White House or from the members of the cabinet. Private Secretary Thurber said that the President had been very much benefited by his trip to Gray Gables.

Appearance of Cholera Announced.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Dispatches have been received at the marine hospital bureau from the consuls at Koenigsberg and Cologne, announcing the appearance of cholera at both places.

Generally Well Dead.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A telegram from Ohio announces the death of General Lucien Wiley, a brother-in-law of Senator Brice.

Two Men Instantly Killed.

LA MOURE, N. D., Aug. 23.—The boiler of a threshing engine on a farm eight miles southeast of here exploded, instantly killing John Lind and Louis Berg.

A Prominent Man Injured.

CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 23.—Thomas J. Wood, a prominent business man of this city, was struck by an express train here and fatally injured.

DYNAMITE'S TERRIBLE WORK.

A Man, Beast and Barn Burned—Others Injured.

AKRON, O., Aug. 23.—The explosion of a dynamite cartridge in the cylinder of a threshing machine on the farm of George Witner, caused a fire which destroyed the large barn and several thousand bushels of grain.

Michael Myers, aged 50, of Newark, O., went into the barn to save the horses. He mounted one. The animal refused to move. Man and beast were burned to death. Andrew and Rolland Witner were seriously burned.

Convicts Can Stay In Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Police Court Judge T. M. Bigger has decided that the Columbus city ordinance under which the city authorities have been compelling discharged convicts to leave the city is unconstitutional. This let William Golden, an ex-convict from Cincinnati, free, but he was arrested again at once on a request from Assistant United States District Attorney C. T. Greeve, and held as a witness. It is thought that he knows all about the Mulligan counterfeiting in the state prison some time ago.

Fought Over an Umbrella.

PIQUA, O., Aug. 23.—Fred Russell and Lawrence Hoechst, both of this city, became involved in an altercation in the latter's saloon, which culminated in a fight in which Russell entered the saloon and laying his umbrella down, ordered a glass of beer. After drinking it he looked for his umbrella and, discovering it gone, accused Hoechst of taking it. A fight resulted, and Hoechst went back of the counter and, getting a revolver, fired twice, just as the police, who had been telephoned for, arrived.

Incorporated In Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—The following articles of incorporation have been filed in the office of the secretary of state: Capital Fishing and Hunting Club, Columbus; Cleveland and Akron Electric Railway company, Cleveland, amendment enlarging purpose; Ohio Storage Battery company, Cleveland, capital stock $100,000; Cleveland Machine Screw company, Cleveland, increase from $200,000 to $300,000; Mammoth Store company, Dayton, capital stock $15,000.

Maliciously Unleashed.

PIQUA, O., Aug. 23.—Officer Thompson's attention was called to a fellow hitching a horse owned by Ward Russell. The former started over and the fellow ran away, but was captured after a lively race. He was recognized as an old offender, and was arrested and pleaded guilty to the charge of maliciously hitching a horse, for which offense he was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment in the workhouse.

Fired on by Burglars.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Burglars were scared away from C. J. Karch's coal office, on South High street, at an early hour by Edward and Henry Sauer, who happened to come along. The burglars had broken into the safe, but got nothing. They fired at the Sauer and the latter returned the fire, but so far as known none of the shots took effect. The burglars fled and escaped.

He Feared For The Nation.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—William R. Thompson, aged 69, has been found hanging in his barn at Worthington. He was a soldier in the Ninth Michigan regiment during the war, and one of the causes of the despondency that led to this act was his belief that this nation was approaching its ruin. This was aggravated also by the fact that a granddaughter had gone wrong.

A Pet Dog Fires a House.

LANCASTER, O., Aug. 23.—Bud Clifton's family, residing near Baltimore, Md., last night had a burning lamp and a dog in the sitting room and retired upstairs to bed. The dog went foraging, the lamp went spinning and the house went up in flames, the family escaping from an upper window in their night clothes. Loss, $1,000, without insurance.

Pierced by a Pitchfork.

CADIZ, O., Aug. 23.—Charles Carrick, a farmer in Short Creek township, started to get off a load of hay at his barn, and threw his pitchfork first. In sliding down the load the fork landed upright. Carrick followed, and the fork ran into his person some 14 inches, requiring the effort of an assistant to withdraw it. He will die.

He Never Takes a Bath.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—One of the grounds for divorce in a petition filed in the common pleas court here by Mrs. Peter Quinn is that her husband never takes a bath. Mrs. Quinn makes her case still stronger by stating that her husband's occupation is removing the carcasses of animals from the streets.

Typhoid Fever Epidemic.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Secretary C. O. Probst of the state board of health has gone to Perryville, Ashland county, in response to a call from the local board of health, stating that an epidemic of typhoid fever prevails there which the local board is unable to cope with.

Toledo Exposition Is On.

TOLEDO, Aug. 23.—The big Toledo International exposition, Midway and Fair, is on here, with every indication of success. Already many thousands of people have visited the Midway, where 20 of the leading features of the World's fair specialties have been reproduced.

Couldn't Fight the Owners.

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 23.—Residents of Magnetic Springs, incensed at the owners of the water for charging high rates, started to drill a well of their own. Their money gave out, however, and work has been abandoned, while the landlords are happy.

EDITOR ON HIS TRAIL.

A Split Among the Republicans In Nebraska.

THE OMAHA BEE MAN BOLTS.

He Writes a Redhot Letter Scoring the Nominee For Governor—Says He Was Branded as a Forger and Consorts With Hoodlums—A Fierce Attack.

OMAHA, Aug. 23.—The nomination of Lieutenant Governor Majors for governor by the Republican state convention has caused a redhot fight in the ranks. After the nomination Edward Rosewater prepared a scorching letter, resigning as member of the Republican national committee, and sent it to the chairman of the convention to be acted upon immediately. This means that Mr. Rosewater's paper, The Bee, and the anti-monopoly element of the party will fight Majors during the campaign.

Mr. Rosewater's letter was read to the convention. He explained he was too loyal a Republican to support Majors. Continuing, he said:

"The action of your convention impels me to tender my resignation as national committee-man. You have nominated a man for governor who has been branded as an accessory to forgery and perjury by a Republican congressional committee, of which Hon. Thomas B. Reed was chairman; a man who stands self convicted of falsifying official records and procuring the issue of a fraudulent voucher while acting in the capacity of president of the state senate; a man who has consorted with hoodlums and jobbers and converted the room of the lieutenant governor at the capitol of the state into a den for debauchery; a man who has been the plant tool of the railroads, in season and out of season, and whose nomination was procured by the combined influence of corporate capers, professional bribe givers, jury fixers and impeached statehood officials."

"I cannot and never will ask any self-respecting Republican who loves his state and country and desires to perpetuate the free institutions under which we live, under Republican government to help rivet the chains of subservience to corporate monopoly and tyranny upon the people of this commonwealth."

"Believing in my sacred duty to uphold the standard of true Republicanism and a sacred duty I desire to be freed from all restraint which might be imposed upon me by remaining on the national committee."

The letter created a profound sensation. After some delay the resignation was accepted, and Hon. John M. Thurston of Omaha was elected to fill the vacancy.

A Big Electric Deal.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23.—The Westrom Electric company of Baltimore, which has a capital stock of $1,000,000, has sold out to the Fort Wayne Electric corporation of Fort Wayne. This deal puts the Fort Wayne company in control of patents which it is said are being infringed by other electric manufacturers and the Fort Wayne company will, it is said, immediately begin an active fight upon all who are reported as infringing its patents.

A Malicious Letter Caused It.

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—George Bolender, a son of Charles Bolender, a well-to-do farmer of this place, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. He was 25 years of age. Mortification over a letter sent to him by some one who requested him to leave the town on account of allegations of theft is said to have been the cause of his act.

Met a Horrible Death.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 23.—Charles Peyton, a switchman in the Chesapeake and Ohio yards, went between two cars to make a coupling and met with a horrible death. He did not see a bolt that had become loosened and projected so that it went entirely through his head, suspending the body while the train moved two car lengths.

Conviction of New Orleans Mayor.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.—The crime for which Mayor John T. Callahan was convicted was demanding and receiving bribes while a member of the city council. The most important count was the demand made on Mr. Lyman S. Widener, a coal dealer, who desired certain wharf privileges in order to successfully conduct his business.

Will Test the Dispensary Law.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 23.—The attorney of the state and the city of Aiken have agreed to take Judge Aldrich's decision and make a test case of the dispensary law before the supreme court. The chief justice has been requested to call an extra session of the court and he will probably do so in a day or two.

Saved Them From Drowning.

CAR MAY, N. J., Aug. 23.—Thomas E. Byrnes, a lawyer and prominent Democrat of Philadelphia, saved State Comptroller Hancock of New Jersey, ex-County Clerk Barker Gummer of Newark, N. J., and ex-Postmaster William S. Yard of Trenton from drowning in this city.

A Jail Breaker Caught.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—Ed Beaver, one of the jail breakers, has been caught at Altenwald stealing a ride on a freight car. The station agent captured him and telephoned to Chambersburg. The sheriff brought him to jail. Four of the seven escaped convicts are still at large.

Indians Becoming Troublesome.

EL RENO, O. T., Aug. 23.—Reliable information has reached here that the Kiowa and Comanche Indians are becoming alarmingly troublesome because of money to the amount of $60,000 due them by cattlemen for lease of their lands has not been paid them.

Tariff Law Benefits Them.

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 23.—The operations in the Lowell Manufacturing company, carpet mills, have been notified that if the new tariff bill becomes a law Monday the 10 per cent cut down of last February will be immediately restored.

JUDGE COOLEY'S OPINIONS.

He Discusses Recent Matters of Agitation In This Country.

SARATOGA, Aug. 23.—Judge Samuel F. Hunt of Cincinnati read Judge Cooley's paper before the American Bar association at this place.

In the course of his paper Judge Cooley recalled the commonwealth movement, referring to it as "that extraordinary spectacle witnessed early in the year of considerable bodies of men collected in various sections of the country under the leadership of persons who assumed military titles and who proposed to march upon Washington. The states were passed unnoticed, though to one familiar with our institutions it was plain enough that the duty insisted upon, if it existed at all, must rest upon the states, and the armies marched directly upon the national capital to demand the action of the general government."

Of the boycott and strike, he said that the ordinary strike had the element of self-defense, but the recent boycott and strike had not this element, and the fact that innocent people suffered was excused on the ground that it helped the strikers to win. Referring to the protest of Governor Altgeld against the presence of federal troops in Illinois, he said:

"We cannot admit that the position taken is even plausible. It has no warrant whatever in the federal constitution, which, on the contrary, is distinctly against it. The president is to take care that the federal laws be faithfully executed, and his doing so is not made to depend upon the will or consent of any one state. Duty is specially and in the plainest terms imposed upon him, and in the performance of it he is subordinate to no state authority."

Speaking of arbitration, he said, that had there been a national board of arbitration, they could not have settled the disputes between the railroads and the strikers, as the real trouble existed between other parties. Said he:

"Our statesmen will never overlook the fact that there is one class of strikes that can never be settled by arbitration. That is the sympathetic strike, and the reason is plain; the parties to the strike are not the parties to the controversy that needs to be settled, and if the sympathizers are held justified the original quarrel still remains undetermined."

Old Soldier Sued For Divorce.

NORWALK, O., Aug. 23.—Lucretia E. Root of Sandusky has filed suit for divorce from Joseph Root, now living at the Soldiers' home in Sandusky. She alleges that before his marriage he served 10 years in the Michigan penitentiary for a heinous offense, which fact he concealed from her. She says she has been obliged to take in washing, and has been fed with food abstracted from the table of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' home.

Bishop Horstmann Welcomed Them.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—At the convention of the Polish Roman Catholic union Bishop Horstmann welcomed the delegates in a speech in which he urged them to be loyal to the church. Ignatz Czeminski of Milwaukee responded, condemning the Poles who had joined the independent movement headed by Bishop Vlatte and urging all Catholic poles to be patriotic American citizens.

Cholera Still Rages In Holland.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 23.—Three fresh cases of cholera have been reported here. At Maestricht one new case of cholera and two deaths from that disease are announced. One fresh case of cholera is reported from Haarlem, and at Kinderdijk a death from that disease has occurred.

Morley Calmed The Storm.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—It is said Mr. Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, has succeeded in calming the storm aroused by the Irish members as a result of the veto by the house of lords of the evicted tenants bill.

No Change In The Weavers' Strike.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 23.—The strike situation has undergone no material change. All the mills remain closed and both sides seem to be as determined as ever.

Weather Forecast.

Fair; warmer; southwest winds.

FROM THE RANKS.

BY CAPT. CHARLES KING.

ed, from possibility of further meetings with Jerrold. For nearly a week, said Cub, Mame Beaubien had dogged Nina so that she could not get a moment with the man with whom she was evidently so smitten, and the girl was almost at her wits' end with seeing the depth of his flirtation with Alice Renwick and the knowledge that on the morrow her mother would spirit her off to the cool breezes and blue waves of the great lake. Cub said she so worked on Fanny's feelings that they put up the scheme together and made him bring them out. Gled, if old Maman only found it out, there'd be no more Germans for Nina! She'd ship her off to the good Sisters at Creve-Coeur and slap her into a convent and leave all her money to the church.

And yet, said city society, old Maman idolized her beautiful daughter and could deny her no luxury or indulgence. She dressed her superbly, though with a somewhat barbaric taste, where Nina's own good sense and eastern teaching did not interfere. What she feared was that the girl would fall in love with some adventurer or what was quite as bad—some army man who would carry her darling away to Arizona or other inaccessible spot. Her plan was that Nina should marry here—at home—some one of the staid young merchant princes rising into prominence in the western metropolises, and from the very outset Nina had shown a singular infatuation for the buttons and straps and music and heaven knows what all out at the fort. She gloried in seeing her daughter prominent in all scenes of social life. She rejoiced in her triumphs and took infinite pains with all preparations.

She would have set her foot against Nina's simply dancing the german at the fort with Jerrold as a partner, but she could not resist it that the papers should announce on Sunday morning that "the event of the season at Fort Sibley was the german given last Tuesday night by the ladies of the garrison and led by the lovely Miss Beaubien" with Lieutenant or Captain Anybody. There were a dozen bright, graceful, winning women among the dames and damsels at the fort, and Alice Renwick was a famous beauty by this time. It was more than Maman Beaubien could withstand that her Nina should "lead" all these, and so her consent was won. Back they came from Chequamegon, and the stately home on Summit avenue reopened to receive them. It was Monday noon when they returned, and by 3 o'clock Fanny Sutton had told Nina Beaubien what she knew of the wonderful rumors that were floating in from Sibley. She was more than half disposed to be in love with Jerrold herself. She expected a proper amount of womanly horror, incredulity and indignation, but she was totally unprepared for the outburst that followed. Nina was transformed into a tragedy queen on the instant, and poor, simple hearted, foolish Fanny Sutton was almost scared out of her small wits by the fire of denunciation and fury with which her story was greeted. She came home with white, frightened face and hunted up Cub and told him that she had been telling Nina some of the queer things the ladies had been saying about Mr. Jerrold, and Nina almost tore her to pieces, and could he go right out to the fort to see Mr. Jerrold? Nina wanted to send a note at once, and if he couldn't go she had made her promise that she would get somebody to go instantly and to come back and let her know before 4 o'clock.

Cub was always glad of an excuse to go out to the fort, but a coldness had sprung up between him and Jerrold. He had heard the ugly rumors in that mysterious way in which all such things are heard, and while his shallow pate could not quite conceive of such a monstrous scandal, and he did not believe half he heard, he sagely felt that in the presence of so much smoke there was surely some fire and avoided the man from whom he had been inseparable. Of course he had not spoken to him on the subject, and, singularly enough, this was the case with all the officers at the post except Armitage and the commander. It was understood that the matter was in Chester's hands, to do with as was deemed best. It was believed that his resignation had been tendered, and all these 48 hours since the story might be said to be fairly before the public Jerrold had been left much to himself and was presumably in the depths of dismay.

One or two men, urged by their wives, who thought it was really time something were done to let him understand he ought not to lead the german, had gone to see him and been refused admission. Asked from within what they wanted, the reply was somewhat difficult to frame and in both cases resolved itself into "Oh, about the german," to which Jerrold's voice was heard to say: "The german's all right. I'll lead if I'm well enough and am not bothered to death meantime. But I've got some private matters to attend to and am not seeing anybody today." And with this answer they were fain to be content. It had been settled, however, that the officers were to tell Captain Chester at 10 o'clock that in their opinion Mr. Jerrold ought not to be permitted to attend so long as this mysterious charge hung over him, and Mr. Rollins had been notified that he must be ready to lead.

Poor Rollins! He was in sore perplexity. He wanted nothing better than to dance with Nina Beaubien. He wondered if she would lead with him or would even come at all when she learned that Jerrold would be unable to attend. "Sickness" was to be the ostensible cause, and in the youth and innocence of his heart Rollins never supposed that Nina would hear of all the other assignable reasons. He meant to ride in and call upon her Monday evening; but, as ill luck would have it, old Sloat, who was officer of the day, stepped on a round pebble as he was going down the long flight to the railway station and sprained his ankle. Just at 5 o'clock Rollins got orders to relieve him and was returning from the guardhouse when he should come driving in but Cub Sutton, and Cub reined up and asked where he would be apt to find Mr. Jerrold.

"He isn't well and has been denying himself to all callers today," said Rollins shortly.

"Well, I've got to see him or at least get a note to him," said Cub. "It's from Miss Beaubien and requires an answer."

"You know the way to his quarters, I presume," said Rollins coldly. "You have been there frequently. I will have a man hold your horse, or you can tie him there at the rail, just as you please."

"Thanks. I'll go over, I believe," and so he did, and poor Rollins was unable to resist the temptation of watching whether the magic name of Nina would open the door. It did not, but he saw Cub hand in the little note through the shutters, and ere long there came another from within. This Cub stowed in his waistcoat pocket and drove off with, and Rollins walked jealously homeward. But that evening he went through a worse experience, and it was the last blow to his budding passion for sparkling eyed Nina.

It was nearly tattoo and a dark night when Chester suddenly came in.

"Rollins, you remember my telling you I was sure some of the men had been getting liquor in from the shore down below the station and 'running it' that way? I believe we can nab the smuggler this evening. There's a boat down there now. The corporal has just told me."

Smuggling liquor was one of Chester's horrors. He surrounded the post with a cordon of sentries who had no higher duty apparently than that of preventing the entrance of alcohol in any form. He had run a "red cross" crusade against the post trader's store in the matter of light wines and small beer, claiming that only adulterated stuff was sold to the men and forbidding the sale of anything stronger than "pop" over the trader's counter. Then, when it became apparent that liquor was being brought on the reservation, he made vigorous efforts to break up the practice. Colonel Maynard rather poohpoohed the whole business. It was his theory that a man who was determined to have a drink might better be allowed to take an honest one, coram publico, than a smuggled and deleterious article, but he succumbed to the rule that only "light wines and beer" should be sold at the store and was lenient to the poor devils who overloaded and deranged their stomachs in consequence. But Chester no sooner found himself in command than he launched into the crusade with redoubled energy and spent hours of the day and night trying to capture invaders of the reservation with a bottle in their pockets. The bridge was guarded, so was the crossing of the Cloudwater to the south, and so were the two roads entering from the north and west, and yet there was liquor coming in, and as though "to give Chester a benefit" some of the men in barracks had a royal old spree on Saturday night, and the captain was sorer headed than any of the participants in consequence. In some way he heard that a rowboat came up at night and landed supplies of contraband down by the river side out of sight and bearing of the sentry at the railway station, and it was thither he hurriedly led Rollins this Monday evening.

They turned across the railway on reaching the bottom of the long stairs and scrambled down the rocky embankment on the other side, Rollins following in reluctant silence and holding his sword so that it would not rattle, but he had no faith in the theory of smugglers. He felt in some vague and unsatisfactory way a sense of discomfort and anxiety over his captain's late proceedings, and his stealthy descent seemed fraught with ill omen.

Once down in the flats, their footsteps made no noise in the yielding sand, and all was silence save for the clash of the waters along the shores. Far down the river were the reflections of one or two twinkling lights, and close under the bank in the slack water a few stars were peeping at their own images, but no boat was there, and the captain led still farther to a little cove of willow, and there in the shadows, sure enough, was a rowboat, with a little lantern dimly burning, half hidden in the stems.

Courtship In Burma.

Mr. Mortimer Menpes, in traveling in the east in search of subjects, came upon a curious form of courtship. Sketching one day in Burma, he noticed a man a little distance off glaring fiercely straight ahead of him at some object he could not see from his position. The man sat with the same fixed glare the whole of the afternoon and was at it again the next morning. Mr. Menpes had the curiosity to ask an English visitor what it meant. The reply was, "Oh, he is in love." And it was explained that this was their method of courtship. The object of the man's attentive glare was a girl in a neighboring bazaar. When a man falls in love, he has to seat himself at a certain distance from his adored one and waits for her to do the rest. If she looks in his direction once or twice on the first or second day, he is wildly encouraged, and if on the third day she looks at him and smiles it is time to go to the parents with reference to the marriage settlements.

LOCAL BREVITIES

E. Gransebaugh has shipped his household goods here from Pittsburgh for residence.

Another Coxe meeting was talked of for some time this week, but so far very little interest seems to be taken in the movement.

The employees at the shipping platform of the local freight depot, loaded 16 cars with ware yesterday, the largest days work done by them this year.

The dog poisoner is again at work, and several victims have passed to the happy future of canine life. All were the common, ordinary breed known as dogs.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the anti-saloon meeting to be held in the Grand Opera House this evening. A good attendance is anticipated.

The city commissioner's force are making needed improvements on the gutter across Sixth street near the Diamond, and the pavement was torn up in several places there yesterday.

Archie Searight and family removed today to their former home in East End. Dr. F. M. Laughlin will remove his family from Georgetown to occupy the house on Fifth street vacated by the Searight family.

The NEWS REVIEW will receive telegrams from the East Liverpool riders in the Buffalo road race tomorrow telling how the great contest is going, and the chances of any of the local wheelmen for the victory.

Mayor Gilbert heard the Reynolds-Cleis case in his court yesterday afternoon, and after careful consideration decided that he would not thrust himself between the upper nether millstones of a family quarrel dismissing it and dividing the costs.

Real estate men say that business is picking up a little now that a semblance of prosperity has returned, and several pieces of property have recently changed hands. Prices are not what they were before the depression came on, neither are they so low that property owners are discouraged.

The Hanlon-Rielly case was disposed of by Mayor Gilbert yesterday evidently to the satisfaction of all since Rielly gave security for the fines of both. Charges were entered against each and justice dispensed in short order. They were assessed $12.50 for that little sport of a few weeks ago.

There seems to be still another chance for congress to correct the error in the crockery schedule, and for Senator Smith to carry out his promise to the potters of America. The idea now is to have the correction made if a bill providing for the many other necessary changes is passed. If the alteration comes about it will be to the rate proposed by Smith when the strike was settled. There can be no people in town who do not wish for it.

Clara C. Whitney attached $10 in the hands of John W. Roper because of a board bill which she claims due her from James T. Blouir. The money is wages due Blouir, and the plaintiff says he left her before settling for what he had eaten. The case was heard before Squire Rose this morning, but he decided to continue it until 40 days had passed as the defendant is in West Virginia, and it requires that length of time to legally communicate with him.

A party composed of about 10 people came on the morning train from Steubenville for the purpose of spending the day with Mr. Standahoff, who resides on the McDonald farm about three miles from the city on the Lisbon road. They are a jolly crowd, and came with the expectation of having a jolly time. They make the trip almost every year, and never have cause to complain of treatment, the host being a man who knows well the art of entertaining.

A talk with several well known business men of the city, yesterday, brought forth the sentiment that East Liverpool could derive more benefit from the proposed ship canal if the route from Cleveland to Marietta was the one selected. The expression was that while we are near enough to Rochester to feel the effects of freight rates and it would aid the development of the pottery industry, no boats would pass this way and the benefits would not be as pronounced if all came by Liverpool before they reached Pittsburgh.

The county Democratic convention will be held Wednesday in the Grand Opera house, and some of the delegates will arrive during the day. Others are expected on the evening trains, and all will be ready for business at the appointed time. A ticket will be nominated, and in all probability some luckless member of the party will be endorsed for congress. A Democrat said today that he did not believe there was anything in the reported packing of the convention by Coxeyites, and if anything was done with it a resolution calling on Democrats to stay by the party would be passed.

One On the Old Gentleman.

As a well known resident of the city strolled along the street last evening he noticed that a pair of sparkling eyes, peeping from a face as fair as the lily, were looking at him from the other side of the street. It only required a minute before they were talking together, and the pretty girl had requested the loan of a quarter. The old man was liberal, and in return he attempted to kiss her, but slipping from his embrace she ran down the street laughing merrily, and throwing him a kiss. Carefully he gathered himself together, and as he wandered homeward the cool summer breezes sang a sad, soft requiem through his luxuriant albinah whiskers.

Experiences On the Road.

The young man from this city who walked with the commonwealth from this county to Washington, and subsequently declared through the News Review that the "general" was not the most sweet tempered individual on earth, has informed this paper that he is preparing a few things for the commonwealth to consider. They are reminiscences of the camp, and incidents which marked the march to the end. The article will appear in the near future and will make interesting reading.

LABOR'S SIDE HEARD.

The Strike Commission Ready to Hear Other Testimony.

WORKMEN TOO FOND OF BEER.

A Witness Says Pullman Strikers' Troubles Are Largely Due to the Amber Fluid.—A Real Estate Dealer Says Rents Were Not Too High.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Chairman Wright has announced that the government strike commission has concluded its inquiry into the strike from the side of employees and will now hear the statements of public officials and employers. Mayor Hopkins, Chief of Police Brennan, Fire Chief Swenie and other city officials have been summoned, and Governor Altgeld will probably be called upon. The commission's refusal to say whether or not Mr. Pullman will testify.

Several of the last witnesses examined by the strike commission gave testimony more favorable to the Pullman company than that which had previously been heard. Frank W. Glover, a real estate agent, said he considered the Pullman houses at $18 and $20 a month really cheaper than $12 a month houses in surrounding towns. The Pullman houses were well equipped and beautifully located, he said, and rents were not, in his opinion, too high. In reply to a query of Commissioner Wright, Mr. Glover denied that he was in any way connected with the Pullman company. Paul E. Herms, a newsdealer, who formerly worked in the Pullman shops, said he did not place much faith in the complaints of the men. Their trouble, he thought, was largely due to a fondness for beer. All the saloonkeepers in the surrounding towns had grown rich, Mr. Herms declared, and a large number of Kensington beer wagons were well supported by the Pullman employees. Of real estate values he knew little, but did not believe that Pullman rents were unusually high.

T. H. Johnson, a Pullman furniture dealer, testified that store room rents in the town had been cut, though no reduction had been made in the residence rentals.

Receiver Appointed For a Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—The South Jersey railroad, which only two months ago opened its line to Cape May, has passed into the hands of a receiver, Francis I. Gowen being appointed. The action is a friendly one, being in accordance with an agreement adopted last Saturday at a meeting of the largest creditors. The urgent unsecured indebtedness is $35,000, which sum includes wages due employees. The heaviest creditors are the Harlan & Hollingsworth company, car builders, Wilmington; E. A. Tenny, contractor, and the Bethlehem Iron company, all of which are secured by the company's bonds.

Union Veterans Elect Officers.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 23.—General George Oaks of this city has been elected commander-in-chief of the Union Veterans' union. The other officers elected were: Deputy commander-in-chief, General Wardrop of Massachusetts; second deputy commander, General Louis E. Ellis of Ohio; surgeon general, Dr. S. S. Bond of Washington. A resolution was passed to petition congress to set aside the 17th of June as a national holiday, to be called Veterans' day, in commemoration of Bunker Hill.

Encampment of Sons of Veterans.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Aug. 23.—At the national encampment, Sons of Veterans, consideration of the third degree ritual was concluded and the ritual was referred back to the committee on rituals and ceremonies to make certain changes. On resubmission it will undoubtedly be adopted. The commandery then entered upon the consideration of a revision of the digest, or blue book of the order, of which a complete revision is proposed, to bring it down to date.

A Convention Date Fixed.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—The state Democratic committee has fixed Sept. 11, as the date for holding the convention to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by the death of Hannibal K. Sloan of Indiana county, one of the nominees for congressman-at-large. Suitable action was taken on Mr. Sloan's death.

Communicated With Chicago Anarchists.

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—It is stated that among the belongings of the 14 anarchists who were recently arrested in this city were a number of documents which show conclusively that the Berlin plotters were in constant communication with their brethren in Paris, Barcelona, Chicago and London.

The Gang Superintendent Beaten.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 23.—A serious riot occurred among the Italian laborers working on a new turnpike between Bear Creek and Parsons, and in an endeavor to quell it Superintendent David Cope of Dallas, who has charge of the gang, was severely beaten and his recovery is doubtful.

Will Help the Japs.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 23.—Captain J. Cox, one of the most prominent Victoria seafarers, has been engaged by the Japanese government to take charge of a dry dock. Dr. George B. Duncan, Victoria's health officer, has joined the Japanese army as surgeon.

A Pittsburgher Will Train Them.

DANVILLE, Ky., Aug. 23.—Engene Messler of Pittsburgh, for the past three years a member of the Yale football team and boat crew, has signed a contract to train the Center college eleven this fall.

Injured by a Falling Building.

MEDIA, Pa., Aug. 23.—Joseph Seal has been injured here by a falling building. His limbs and back were badly injured and it is thought he is also internally injured.

Crispi In Good Health.

ROME, Aug. 23.—There is no truth in the report that Signor Crispi is dead; on the contrary the premier is enjoying the best of health.

NEW LISBON, August 23.—Everett Leroy Stone, who has been confined in the county jail for housebreaking in West township escaped at 2:30 o'clock this morning. He was considered a safe man and had been allowed the freedom of the jail yard. He wore neither hat nor shoes. Sheriff Lodge offers $25 reward for his capture.

Going to Durango.

Charley McKeon, the genial superintendent of the light company, is making preparations for a journey that will likely give him experience, pleasure and a neat growth of whiskers. He will leave October first, take up the line of travel to the state of Durango in Mexico where he will superintend the erection of a quantity of mining and stamping machinery. It is not every man who can do this sort of work as it should be done, and Mr. McKeon is to be congratulated on his selection.

Cure for eczema.

As a remedy for all forms of head-ache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influence.
